Art lottery to benefit Clearwater Free Clinic

CLEARWATER – The Clearwater Free Clinic will host its annual Martinis and Matisse art lottery fundraiser Saturday, Jan. 22, at the Frank Crum building in downtown Clearwater.

The committee has chosen local artist Clayton Swartz to be their featured artist for this event. Swartz's work has been described as complex layering of biomorphic shapes, interweaving design, and saturated colors. Looking into any one of his sculptures will take the viewer deep into a maze of parts, design, formal unities and holistic composition.

In addition to the art lottery, there will be a drawing for a gorgeous piece of jewelry and a chance to win a custom piece of art from the featured artist.

All proceeds from the evening will support the Clearwater Free Clinic.
